Joshua Billings Jeter

[Choctaw]

J. B. Jeter

This gentleman was born at Wetumka, Alabama in August, 1852 and was educated at Central Institute, Alabama, and Shilo Academy, near Paris, Tex. He came to Kiamichi county, Choctaw Nation, in 1872, and there commenced teaching public school, which profession he followed until 1884. In that year he was elected district trustee of Third district, and held the office for two years. In 1886, when Thompson McKinney was a candidate for principal chief, J. B. Jeter was elected to the senate from Kiamichi county. He was the second white citizen who had ever been elected to the Choctaw legislature; but no sooner had he taken his seat among the law-makers than they forced him to retire, appointing John Martin, from the same county, in his place. Mr. Jeter had voted the wrong ticket that year. Two years later he might have taken his seat without a majority opposition.

The subject of this sketch obtained his citizenship through marriage with Sarah E. Oakes, second daughter of J. W. Oakes.* The issue of their marriage is six children — Gertrude E., Harriet S., James T., Francis B., William W., and Bonnie B.

Mr. Jeter owns one hundred acres in farm, fifty head of cattle, one hundred and fifty hogs, and an interest in three undeveloped coal claims. He is a young man in excellent education, intelligent, bright, and of good moral character, a Mason and a member of the Presbyterian church. He was appointed coal weigher for the Nation on the Choctaw Coal and Railway Co.

Girtrude Lovett

A Good Woman Gone

Mrs. Lovett Dies At The Akin Hospital in Paris Tuesday

The Soper Herald August 29, 1907 – transcribed by Ron Henson

Mrs. Girtrude [sic] Lovett, (nee Jeter) who had been confined to her bed since the 8th of June, died Tuesday afternoon at the Akin Hospital.

She left her home in Boswell in June and came to the home of her parents where a loving mother and father could take better care of her, but she gradually grew worse until it was decided to take her to the hospital and and [sic] have an operation preformed. She was carried to Paris Sunday morning and seemed to stand the trip very well and on Monday she was greatly improved. Tuesday at noon a telephone message was received here stating that she was not expected to live. Whitney Jeter left immediately, but she died before he arrived. She bore her afflictions patiently and heroically, and was cheerful and hopeful to the end.

She was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Jeter, and [print faded and unreadable] ... member of the Methodist church and was a great worker and of great assistance to Bro. Lovett in his work of saving souls for Christ.

She was married to Rev. G.A. Lovett September the 5th, 1905 at the age of 27 years. Her married life was a brief, but a happy one.

During her long illness Bro. Lovett waited upon her lovingly and faithfully and all that medical skill could do was done to save save [sic] this good woman, but to no avail.

The remains were shipped to Hugo Tuesday night and at her request she was laid to rest in the orchard at her old home where she spent her childhood days in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends. Funeral services conducted by Rev. E.C. Wallace of Grant.

The Herald and its many readers extend condolence to the bereaved husband who is left [unreadable] in this world without a companion and the poor broken hearted father, mother and children.

Tom Jeter Answers Summons After A Year's Fight Against The Great White Plague Former Choctaw County Official Succumbs to Consumption While Residing at Kerrville The Hugo Husonian, Thursday, October 17, 1912 - transcribed by April Makerney

Thomas Jeter, for the majority of his life a resident of what is now Choctaw county, died at Kerrville, Texas, Friday evening, after an illness of almost a year.

Funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church at Soper Tuesday afternoon for Joshua B. Jeter, 74 years old, who died at his home near Atlas Monday morning. He had been ill for some time. The burial ceremony at the Soper cemetery was conducted by the Soper Masonic lodge.

Coming to the Indian Territory as a school teacher more than half a century ago, Mr. Jeter was prominent in the affairs of the Choctaw Nation and after statehood in the affairs of Choctaw county until recent years, when ill health forced him to forego active work. After statehood Mr. Jeter was named chairman of the first democratic central committee of Choctaw county. He was a candidate for state senator in 1908, losing to W.P. Stewart. For the last few years he and his wife have resided at their farm home near Atlas school.

Jeter, of Ardmore, Ross Johnnie Jeter, of Chickasha; Mrs. May Coleman, who resides in Texas, and a daughter whose name was not learned. Two other children, Mrs. G.A. Death Claims Joshua B. Jeter

The Soper Democrat August 11, 1927 - transcribed by Ron Henson

Last Monday morning at 4:30 o'clock, death claimed one of Soper's most respected citizens, J.B. Jeter, at his home near Atlas. Cause of death was given as hardening of the arteries, of which he had been a sufferer for more than a year.

Funeral services were held at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Bert Jones, Presbyterian minister of Hugo, followed by Masonic services at the grave side. Burial was in Soper cemetery. Robert E. Lee, of Idabel, who was raised by the Jeter family, conducted the Masonic service.

Joshua Blasengame Jeter was born in Montgomery, Alabama, August 7th, 1852, being 75 years and 1 day old. He emigrated to Shiloh, near Paris, Texas, when a lad 18 years old, coming to what is now Choctaw County a short time later. He was district superintendent of Indian schools for six years, and head of Spencer Academy for four years. He was married to Miss Sarah Oakes, who survives him. To the union eight children were born, three dying in early childhood; Mrs. G.A. Lovett, who died in 1907; J.T. Jeter, who died in 1912. Those surviving are Mrs. J.F. Larecy, of Hugo; W.W. Jeter, of Ft. Worth, and Mrs. J.T. Coleman, of Brownwood, Texas. They with their families were here at his bedside and funeral.

In the death of Mr. Jeter one of the most active men in the early history of the county passed away. He was very active in the tribal affairs of the Choctaws and after statehood was one of the outstanding democrats of the county. He was selected as first chairman of the democratic central committee which conducted the first primary election after Oklahoma was made a state. He made the race for State Senator in 1908 but was defeated, and in 1914 made an unsuccessful race for county commissioner. He spent the last years on his farm near Atlas.

Mr. Jeter was a devout member of the Methodist Church, and of the Masonic fraternity. He was a member of old Doaksville Lodge No. 2 at Doaksville, near Ft. Towson, for many years, transferring to the Soper when it was organized in 1907. For his many services performed to humanity he was made an honorary member of the fraternity several years ago.

Joel H. Nail (Choctaw)

Mrs. Annie Smallwood (Choctaw)

One of the prosperous stockmen of the Choctaw Nation, was born in 1850, being the son of Jonathan Nail, who came to Doaksville in 1833. Joel went to college at Lebanon, Tennessee, where in 1860 he fell in love with Nettie Merrett, daughter of William Merrett, and married her.

Mr. Nail, after several changes of fortune, finally settled on his present estate in Blue county, in 1882, where he has four hundred acres under cultivation, three thousand head of stock, and three thousand acres of pasture, besides building property in Caddo and the Nails Hotel, of which he is a present the proprietor.

He is also an enthusiastic lover of racing, and has always kept the best race stock in the district. Born in 1833 in De Sota county, Mississippi. This lady is the daughter of a white man named Moore, her mother being a full blood Choctaw. At an early age she left the old state and settled in Kiamichi county. While young she married John Smallwood, a man of much political prominence in his Nation, having been a member of the Council for many years. John Smallwood was a brother to ex-Chief Smallwood, who was chief administrator from 1888 until 1890. By this union Mrs. Smallwood had four children — Ben, Susan, John and Dick. Ben and John are both dead, while Dick, the youngest son, is National coal weigher at Coalgate. Susan has been married for many years to John A. Dillon, of Atoka, with whom the subject of this sketch has resided for sixteen years past. Mrs. Smallwood is possessed of property in the city as well as a small stock of cattle. Although in her fifty-seventh year, she is still full of life and energy, devoting much of her time to her little grandchildren, to whom she is greatly attached. Few of Mrs. Smallwood's neighbors have not received proofs of her benevolence and kindly nature in times of trouble and sickness. She is highly connected both on her father and mother's side; her nephew, William Byrd, being Governor of the Chickasaw Nation, while her brother-in-law is ex-Principal Chief of Choctaws.

Gunfight at Grant

BYSTANDER SHOT IN GRANT BATTLE

BRACKEENS AND KEEL PUT UP A ONE-RING SHOW ON STREETS OF GRANT Wilkie Collins Was on Street at Time and Managed to Stop a Bullet Without Injury The Hugo Husonian March 14, 1912 - transcribed by Ron Henson

A pistol duel on the streets of Grant at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, was the cause of excitement, and the innocent bystander, as usual, was the victim, a stray bullet striking Wilkie Collins in the leg, but inflicting no damage of consequence.

The battle royal was between Lon Keel, commanding himself, and W.D. Brackeen and son, Clarence, the latter claiming one thing started the battle, while Keel is just as positive that the Brackeens were the aggressors.

The shrevalty troops gathered in the offenders and trotted them to this city appearing before Justice Schooler at 9 o'clock Friday night, where arrangements were made for bond, each being required to furnish $1,000 bond for appearance at the examining trial Tuesday. Each of the men gave the approved bonds and secured release from custody.

How many shots were fired is unknown, but one of the bullets struck an iron sign, glanced against a brick wall and from there deflected to the ground, Wilkie Collins leg being between the wall and aground and the recipient of the leaden missile.

Oliver Stanley Killed Near Frogville

NEGRO KILLED NEAR FROGVILLE

DANCE DOWN ON RED RIVER RESULTED IN KILLING OF OLIVER STANLY Sheriffs Office Sends Deputy To Get Slayers Who Did Wholesale Business Thursday Night The Hugo Husonian Feburary 8, 1912 - transcribed by Ron Henson

Frogville furnished a murder for Thursday night, and Oliver Stanley, negro, died, with one other Senegambian fatally wounded and another scrimmaged over with a knife and gun, but making a miraculous escape.

The trouble occurred at a negro dance in the thickly settled negro country near Frogville.

This morning the sheriff received word that a negro had been killed in a fight, and Deputy Sheriff P.C. Anderson was sent from Fort Towson, the nearest point, to ascertain what had transpired. At two o'clock this afternoon Anderson sent a message stating that a battle had been fought between negroes at Frogville, and that the first mentioned results were the certain facts.

How the trouble came about was not ascertainable this afternoon, as Frogville is located on the Red river border of the Texas frontier, and where those engaged in the affray could go with out much danger of being at once apprehended.

HURST AND MESSER WERE ARRESTED AND FINED

The Hugo Husonian February 8, 1912 - transcribed by Ron Henson

Chief Lee and men made a raid on the grocery store being operated by John Hurst on Dewey avenue, late Wednesday afternoon, arresting the proprietor and J.B. Messer, taking them to Justice McQueen's city court on the charge of having liquor and disposing of same article.

In a trial in the justice court both men were convicted on two counts each, total fine assessed against each defendant being 60 days in jail and $100 in cash and the costs.

Officers took considerable of the "Joy and sorrow" out of the place, which they had been watching for several hours before making the raid.

Both defendants assert that they will appeal their case to the county court and fight the prosecution to the court of last resort.
