Choctaw Language Rules

Rule 5

When a double consonant is written, both are pronounced. This gives the effect of one long drawn out consonant. Listen closely to the pronunciation of the double consonants in the links below.

pokkoli - ten	homma - Red
ulla - child	issish - blood
ibbak - hand	ummi - mine
kullo - hard	tiwwi - to open

Minor Rule

The white missionaries often did not hear the double consonants because English does not have them; in English, tt sound the same as t. The missionaries often wrote a single consonant where they should have written a double. Allen Wright, a Choctaw, carefully wrote all double consonants in his dictionary.

Click the links below to hear some words which the missionaries wrote single consonants.

hashshuk / hashuk - grass	hoppi / hopi - to bury
nittak / nitak - day	issi / isi - deer
hattak / hatak - person, man	pokkoli / pokoli - ten
On the left is the correct spelling, on the right the incorrect spelling.

Edward A. Bohannon (Choctaw)

Born in Blue County, March, 1863. The subject of this sketch was the son of Edward Bohannon, who emigrated from Mississippi in 1852. The young man and his two brothers, David and Leonidas, were left under their mother's charge at an early age, and until 1855 assisted her on the family homestead. Edward made the most of the limited education he was enabled to received at Durant, but was for several years incapable of active exertion through the effects of three bullet wounds which he received on Christmas night, 1884, at the hands of a man named Callaghan. The shots were fired while young Bohannon was observing the dancers, and the pistol was so close to him that each shot burned his clothing. The severity of his wounds obliged him to adopt the business of book agent and fur trader until 1889, when he was appointed a member of the U.S. Indian Police. Besides this, Edward Bohannon holds the appointment of special peace officer for the town of Caddo, for which he receives an income from the citizens. Since he has become a guardian of the public welfare it is notable that the town has enjoyed absolute freedom from lawlessness and rowdyism.

Julius C. Hampton

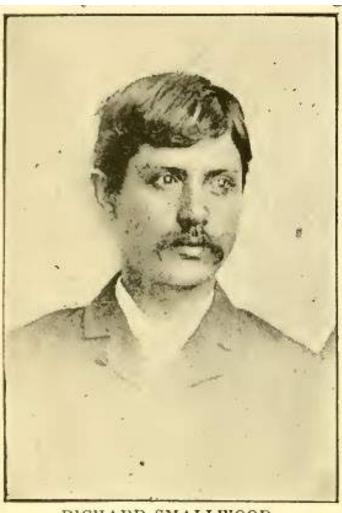

Son of Nicholas H. Hampton, of Blue County, was born near Talihena in the Choctaw Nation, in 1859, where his father resided until 1865, when at the close of the war he moved fifteen miles east of Caddo, bringing with him his slaves, which were not yet set free. In 1885 the subject of this sketch married Jennie Davenport, and after her death, four years later, wedded Peggy Downing, a daughter of Ned Downing, a Cherokee refugee. In 1879 he was appointed circuit clerk under Judge Loring Folsom, and clerk of the House of Respresentatives in 1885 and 1886. In 1889 was clerk of the Net Proceeds Commission, of which Dr. E. Poe Harris was secretary. Some years previously Mr. Hampton was employed by Allinton Telle, supervisor of census to take the census of the Senatorial district. He is now devoting his attention to cattle and farming. Of the latter he has three hundred acres of land under cultivation and employs nine work-hands. He has one son, Walter, aged two years.

Richard Smallwood

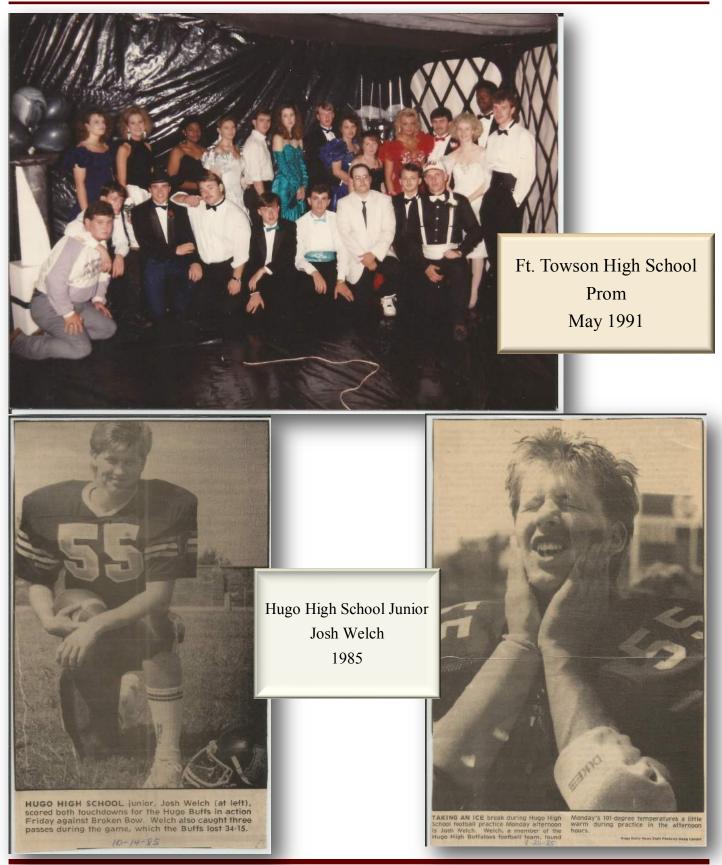

RICHARD SMALLWOOD.

Born in 1864 at Doaksville, Choctaw Nation, Indian Territory; attended the neighborhood school until 1872, when he went to the American College, at Paris, Texas, where he remained for one year; then the following year to the Jesuit College, Osage Mission, Kansas. In 1875 he commenced clerking for John A. Dillon, a merchant of Atoka, remaining with him for three years; after which time he opened in the butcher business in the same place and remained at it for several years. In 1888 he married Miss Rose Cooke, of Denison, only daughter of N. L. Cooke, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Smallwood is an accomplished and entertaining lady and an excellent musician. Richard was appointed by his uncle, Governor Smallwood, in 1888, as National Coal Weigher for the Southwestern Coal Improvement Company, which position he still holds. Mr. Smallwood is a young man of considerable ability, and is popular among his people. He is the last of the Smallwoods, one of his brothers having been killed and the other died from smallpox in Mexico while Auditor for the Santa Fee Railroad Co.

Todd Whatley: He lived by the code of a man

Born in Rufe, Okla., in 1920, Todd Whatley entered his first rodeo at Battiest, Okla., in 1937. He later made his home in Hugo where he established his beautiful T-4 Ranch.

In 1947, Todd became the first All-Around Cowboy named in the RCA. He also won the steer wrestling championship in 1947 and later in 1953 he won the bull riding title.

He served on the Board of Directors of the RCA for nearly as long as he was a full time contestant. Todd was a charter member of the Cowboy Hall of Fame. In 1947, he set a record for the most money won at a single rodeo, $8,898, at New York's Madison Square Garden, a record which stood until early 1976.

The name of Todd Whatley will long be remembered in professional rodeo. This seems a fitting tribute, for even more solid than the three national championships and prize money he won during the 25 years he was a competitor, is the memory of the man's basic integrity and the depth of his friendship with others.

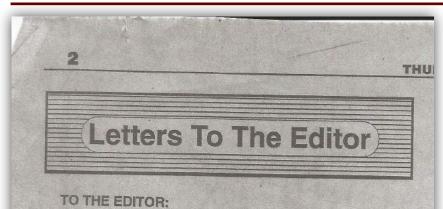

Todd Whatley was a Hugo rancher and RCA rodeo cowboy. Whatley won the All-Around and Steer Wrestling titles in 1947, and returned in 1953 to win the World Champion Bullriding Title. Whatley also served on the board of directors of the PRCA and held PRCA membership card No. 1. The Hugo Rodeo arena was named for Whatley and his rodeo friend, Lige Hammock.

On 16 September 1994 we, who care, will celebrate a recognition day for our Prisoners of War and Missing in Action Veterans of Foreign Wars.

At VFW Hugo Post 8316 we honor four veterans who are former POWs. They are Life Member Waldo J. Beadle, Life Member Walter E. "Mac" McFarland, Life Member Coy Tate; and Member John W. Booth. At every meeting on the last Thursday of each month we make it a point to recognize those four individuals who we respect with the highest esteem.

Those who are still missing in action and not yet declared as killed in action are still revered by our organization. Starting with WWII, our era, 1941-1945, there were 93,941 POWs in Europe and 27,465 POWs in the Pacific Theater of Wars. There were 1,121 who died in captivity in the ETO and 11,107 in the PTO. The percentages are 1% of the POWs in Europe and 40% of the POWs in the Pacific.

In the Korean War, 1950-1953, 7,141 were POWs, 2,701 died in captivity for a death rate of 38%.

In Viet Nam, 1964-1973, 766 were POWs and 114 died in captivity for a 15% death rate.

Many veterans of the numerous wars that we have fought are still unaccounted for. I ask every citizen of Hugo to pray for those POW/MIAs who have given the ultimate in service to our country on this special day.
